

OFFICE OF THE DEPOT SUPPLY OFFICER

TO: Contracting Officer

1. This depot has completed a review of recently revised Fly-away Kit spares listings for Racks A-B-C-F-G-H-and K. Because the programmed distribution of the numerous racks does not readily lend itself to creation of any standard flyaway kit for other than the two field detachments, it has been reluctantly concluded that there is no practical alternative except to approve these lists as submitted on the basis of one spares kit per rack purchased. In the case of the field detachments, action has been taken to consolidate duplicate authorizations contained in the several listings and to prescribe a fixed flyaway kit quantity. Excesses generated through this action will be retained in stocks for depot backup of the program.

2. Equipment List Y, Depot Spares for 3-Channel Data Reduction Equipment, has been reviewed and approval is recommended.

3. Equipment List AA, Flyaway Kit for System 4, has been reviewed and it is recommended the contract be amended to provide for only one (1) kit of spares. This quantity is considered adequate to support two systems at one location.

4. The depot spares list for System 4, has been reviewed and it is recommended that contract approval be granted only for those items not lined off the attached listing (Listing BB). Items which have been deleted are either available in depot stocks, due in on previously approved contracts, or can be readily obtained from Air Force or local sources as required.

SUBJECT: Contract A-101, Equipment Lists AA, BB, and CC for Support of System 4

TO: Contracting Officer

Dear Dan:

Reference your letter #21822 dated 29 November 1957 which forwarded the contractor's proposal and spares recommendations for support of System 4.

Equipment Lists AA, BB, and CC have been reviewed by the FOG WSSC and are approved subject to the contractor deleting those items from his proposal which can be obtained from Air Force stocks, as set forth in Bill Denard's letter dated 23 December 1957, a copy of which is attached. You are requested to obtain a new proposal based on Bill's comments and to incorporate the revised lists into the contract upon receipt.

25X1 Sincerely,
